Netpar - Privacy Policy

This Privacy Policy covers The Company's treatment of personal information that it gathers when you are on its website and when you use its services. This policy does not apply to the practices of third parties that The Company does not own or control, or to individuals that The Company does not employ or manage.

Information Collected by The Company
We only collect personal information that is relevant to the purpose of our services. This information allows us to provide you with a customized and efficient experience.

Creating and Posting Content Some features of our Services allow users to create and post content in or through the Services. Any content which you have publicly posted or published on or through our Services shall be publicly available by default, and your profile information may appear in the Services as the creator thereof.

Creating a Netpar Account – Some part of the Services may require you to create a ScoopWhoop account by voluntarily providing your information such as your name and email address by logging into your account in another service (such as Facebook, Twitter and Google). You may further voluntarily provide us with additional information such as your birth date, gender, location, profile picture and friend list. Such personal information will only be used to operate, maintain, enhance and provide you with our Services.

Protection of your Account - You may never use another account without permission. You are solely responsible for the activity that occurs on your account, and you must keep your account password secure. You must notify us immediately of any breach of security or unauthorized use of your account. We will not be liable for your losses caused by any unauthorized use of your account.

Profile and Other Information – If you have a Netpar account, your profile information (such as nickname, gender and location), information or content you submit, post, like or comment on, and your other activities on the Services will be publicly visible. When you register or post information or content on or through the Services, we suggest you to think carefully about what you are making public.

Contact Information – We may use your contact information such as email address and mobile number, without further notice, to send you information about our Services, respond to your requests, or facilitate your use of the Services.

Cookies – Like many websites, we use cookies and beacons to assist in delivering the Services and to collect usage data for improvement of our Services. Cookies are identifiers in the form of text files that are inserted and stored by your web browser on your hard drive. Persistent and session cookies are used to identify unique visitors and to provide a customized user experience.

Log Data – Like many other websites and mobile applications, we receive log data when you interact with our Services for delivering our Services and track, customize and improve them. Log data may include information such as internet protocol (IP) addresses, type of browser, kind and version of operating system, date/time stamp, referring/exit pages, link click behavior etc.

Third-Party Services – We are not responsible for practices employed by any websites or mobile applications linked to or from our Services. Please be aware that this Privacy Policy does not apply to the practices of third-party services. Hence we encourage you to read applicable privacy policy on each website or mobile application that you visit.

Service Providers – We may use various third-party services to provide our Services and to understand the use of our Services. These third parties may have access to your information to the extent it is reasonably necessary.

Legal and Other Requirements – Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Policy, we may disclose your information to a third party if we believe that it is reasonably necessary to comply with a law, regulation or legal request; to protect the safety of any person; to address fraud, security or technical issues; or to protect our rights and property.

Modifying or Deleting Your Information – If you have a Netpar account and want to access or modify your profile information or delete your account, you may do so in account settings in the Services. For avoidance of doubt, you acknowledge and agree that we may continue to use your information in accordance with this Privacy Policy after the deletion of your Netpar account or the termination of use of our Services, for any reason whatsoever.

Business transfers: In connection with any reorganization, restructuring, merger or sale, or other transfer of assets, we will transfer information, including personal information, provided that the receiving party agrees to respect your personal information in a manner that is consistent with our Privacy Statement.
In addition, the Services may contain links to third party websites and content. Netpar does not control these websites and/or content and these third parties' privacy policies may be different from our own. You access linked websites or third-party content at your own risk.

Changes to Privacy Policy
Netpar reserves the right to change this Privacy Policy at any time. If we make any substantial changes to this Privacy Policy and the way in which we use your personal data we will post these changes on this page. It is solely your responsibility to check our Privacy Policy on a regular basis and keep yourself apprised of any new changes if you are accessing/using any of Netpar Properties.

Please be assured that we will not use your information for any of the purposes if you have indicated that you do not wish us to use your information in this way when submitting the information or at a later stage. However, by submitting your personal data to us, you will be treated as having given your permission – where necessary and appropriate – for disclosures referred to in this policy.
